RAMBLES BY RAIL.

PROBABLY no fact evidencing American progress is more clearly demonstrated than the prevailing custom among all classes to devote more or less of the summer months to journeys in search of health and pleasure, or to obtain the relaxation from care and business so much needed by our fast-living and hard-working people. Particularly is this custom to be observed in large cities and towns, where a summer jaunt is deemed as essential to the year's routine as the seasons are to its fruitfulness. This propensity is not limited to a class. The rich and poor alike indulge it—varying their enjoyment only in the places sought or the time consumed. Those who are fortunate enough to possess plenty of both leisure and lucre, crowd European steamers and sea-side cottages; others join the throngs who make our fashionable resorts the gayest in the world; while others, who prudently consider the cost, both in dollars and days, "spy out the land," like Caleb and Joshua, seeking its shady nooks and rocky fastnesses, its health-giving fountains and natural wonders, and return at the end of their rambles laden with the rich spoils of nature in the shape of strengthened bodies and invigorated minds. If the philanthropist will, for a few days of the heated term, station himself at any of the principal steamboat docks or railway depots in the great cities, he will be struck with the eager joy of crowds hurrying out of town for a view of country scenes and a breath of country air. Old and young are alike excited and rejoiced at the prospect before them. If the same points are observed when these ramblers return, he will see them laden with the spoils gathered where the birds sing and the grasses grow, and notice that the hands of many grasp as treasures leaves and wild flowers which the country denizens would sneer at as weeds. But to the woman or child who is accustomed to gaze only on hot walls and hotter streets, these humble offerings of dell and dingle are reminders of coolness and shade, and are cherished as mementoes of God's country.

Railroads being now the common highways of our land, it is only natural that their managers should seek to accommodate this traveling propensity of the people, and the last eleven years have witnessed a wonderful progress in this direction. Almost every important line in the United States now makes a prominent feature of its "Summer Excursions," and each vies with its competitors in offering inducements, both in routes and rates, that will attract the tide of travel over its line. All this benefits the public, because the facilities offered widens, by hundreds of miles and at no additional cost, the area open for their summer wanderings. In perfecting these arrangements, THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD COMPANY can justly claim the first position. It has, from year to year, amplified its system of Summer Excursion Routes, until now they extend through all the varied and interesting scenery for which the Middle, Eastern, Northern, and Southern States of the Union are celebrated.

The numerous and widely diverging lines of the Company, following the courses of beautiful rivers, penetrating the fastnesses of giant mountains, reaching the restless waves of the mighty ocean, and meandering through romantic vales to breezy heights, afford facilities for pleasure travel unrivaled on the continent, and all these advantages have been so systematized and perfected as to become models for scores of imitators. Not only are the routes offered by the Company extended and varied in their attractions, but the accommodations provided over and along them are as perfect as skill and liberality can produce. The summer tourist can select from the routes it offers a jaunt of a few miles or a journey of thousands. But whether his vacation be limited to a day or extended to months,—whether he seeks the shade of a suburb or the pleasures of remote resorts,—the same care will attend him and the same comfort surround him. His inquiries will be answered cheerfully and courteously by the agents and employés of the Company, and he will be neither hurried nor delayed while on his journey. He can pause where attractions are concentrated, and study the lessons of his country's greatness, opened by the hundreds of mining, manufacturing, and agricultural centres scattered along his route; and when the trip is ended, he will find that the cost has been no greater than it would have been had he spent the same time in one locality.

The Summer Excursion Route Book of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, for the season of 1878, is confidently commended to the attention of all who purpose "rambling by rail." It will be found systematically arranged as usual—the routes presented increased in number and extent, the sketches of resorts complete, and a large map introduced, showing clearly the location of all places accessible, and the channels by which they are reached. Such a companion for the tourist is of more than ordinary interest, and cannot fail to direct his rambles into paths of pleasantness.

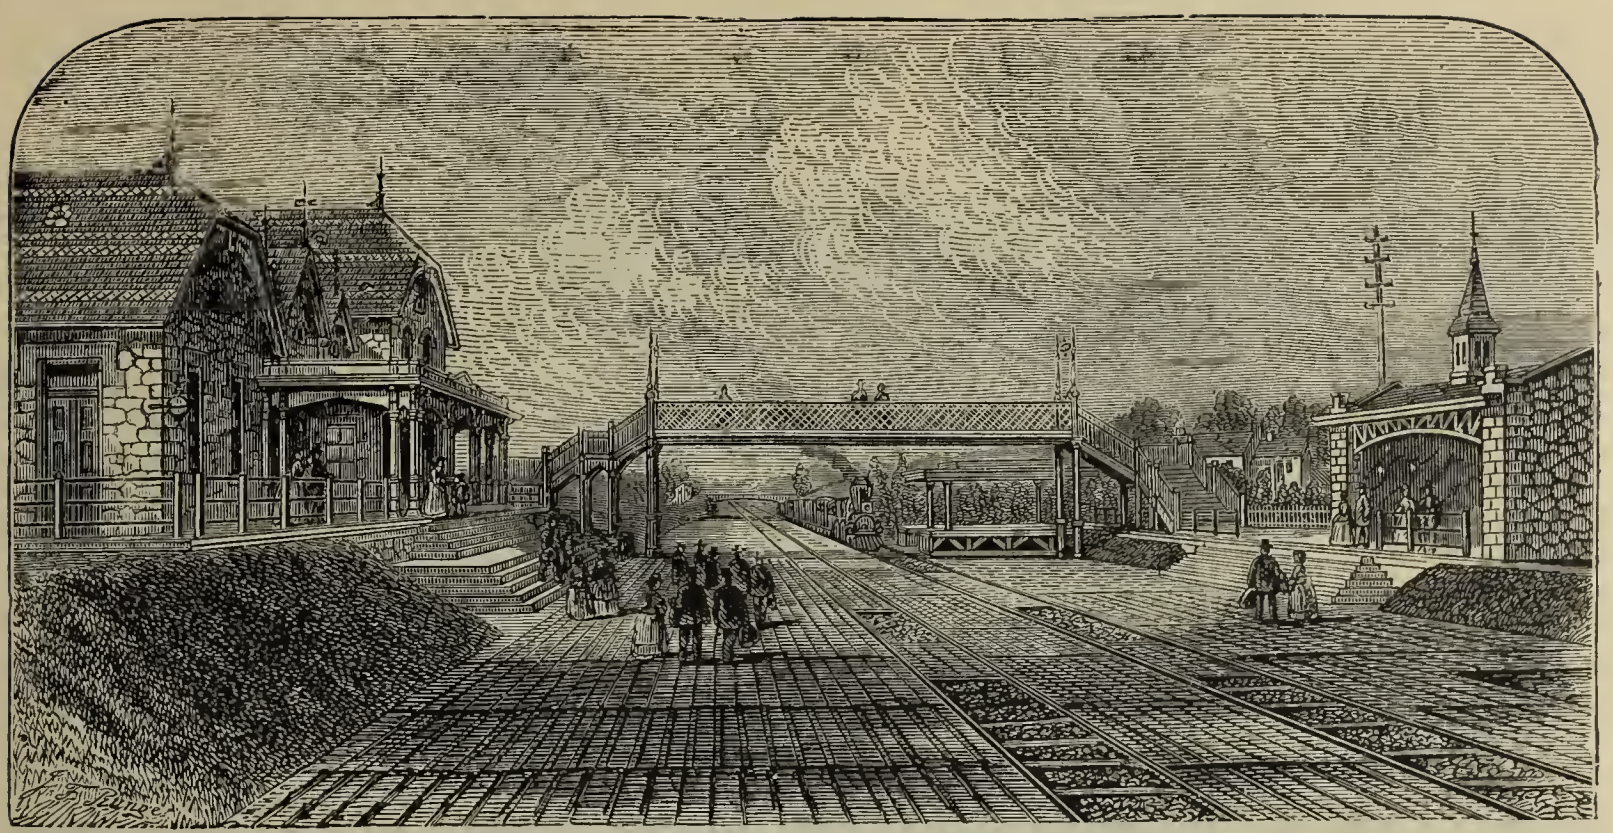
BLOCK-SIGNAL STATION.



BRYN MAWR STATION, NINE MILES WEST OF PHILADELPHIA.

BRYN MAWR.

This beautiful surburb of Philadelphia is situated in Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, nine miles from the city. Its location combines many advantages, being in the midst of a fertile and highly improved region, abundantly watered by springs and streams, and noted for the purity and healthfulness of its atmosphere. The improvements made here by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company are of the most complete character —the station buildings being unsurpassed in neatness and comfort, while the general accommodations provided for the traveling public rival anything of the kind in the world. Among these is a hotel, covering twenty-six thousand square feet of ground, built of stone, four stories high, surmounted by a mansard roof, and having ample capacity for the accommodation of four hundred and fifty guests. This hotel is lighted with gas manufactured on the premises; is copiously supplied with pure water elevated by steam-power to the roof of the building, and stands in the midst of beautifully ornamented grounds embracing near twenty-six acres. It is open for summer visitors, and presents all the attractions of a popular and fashionable resort, while its contiguity to the city, with which it is connected by thirty-six trains of cars per day, give it many additional advantages. A beautifully graded avenue extends from Bryn Mawr to Fairmount Park, uniting there with Belmont avenue,—the principal drive in that great pleasure-ground.

Bryn Mawr is located at an elevation of four hundred and ten feet above ocean level, and occupies the highest point in the immediate vicinity, commanding an extended and beautiful view, alternating with fields and forests—the undulating country being carved into varied outlines by the streams flowing into the Schuylkill, the courses of which can be plainly traced by the wooded growth along their banks. Mill creek, the principal of these, "is a wonderfully wild and picturesque stream. It flows, with a rapid descent, through a region fairly rivaling the Wissahickon in beauty, and a drive from its source to its mouth traverses scenery as rugged, and as little impressed by the improvements of art, as can be found within a circuit of many miles. From eminences along the banks of this creek extended views of the Schuylkill valley can be had, embracing the entire region from Norristown to Manayunk, with Chestnut Hill in the distance, and some three miles south-west of Bryn Mawr is an elevated point, known as Prospect Hill, from which there is a vista of unsurpassed beauty."

Established on a matured and well-defined basis, with no contracted views of false economy to hamper its progress, Bryn Mawr grows from year to year in comfort and elegance. Wide avenues, roomy and open ornamental grounds, and spacious lots for building purposes are among its characteristics, while laudable emulation causes the erection of homes of more than ordinary architectural taste. Careful provision is made against the introduction of anything that can mar the beauty of the place or interfere with its elegant repose, and these guarantees will undoubtedly cause it to expand in a brief time to a suburb of rural homes unrivaled in beauty and attractiveness.

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N. Y.

THIS American port on the St. Lawrence is built upon a massive pile of rocks, and occupies a romantic and highly picturesque situation. Some two or three miles below the village is a position from which one hundred islands can be seen at one view. It is in Jefferson county, New York, in immediate contiguity to the "Thousand Islands," which stretch themselves along the centre of the St. Lawrence river for a distance of forty miles below the termination of Lake Ontario. The steamboat ride from Cape Vincent to Alexandria Bay affords an excellent view of these islands, which are said to number between seventeen hundred and eighteen hundred. The river is about twelve miles wide, but is so closely studded with islands of all shapes and sizes, ranging from an acre to ten miles in length, that there really seems at times a difficulty in threading a channel through them. The water of the St. Lawrence is here of a bright green color and beautifully clear. The islands are nearly all rocky and thickly wooded, and the water in places so deep that the steamers could easily run within a few feet of some of the cliffs. Fishing and gunning among the islands are extremely good, and the region is much frequented by sportsmen as well as by tourists. The Rapids of the St. Lawrence are reached a short distance below Alexandria Bay.

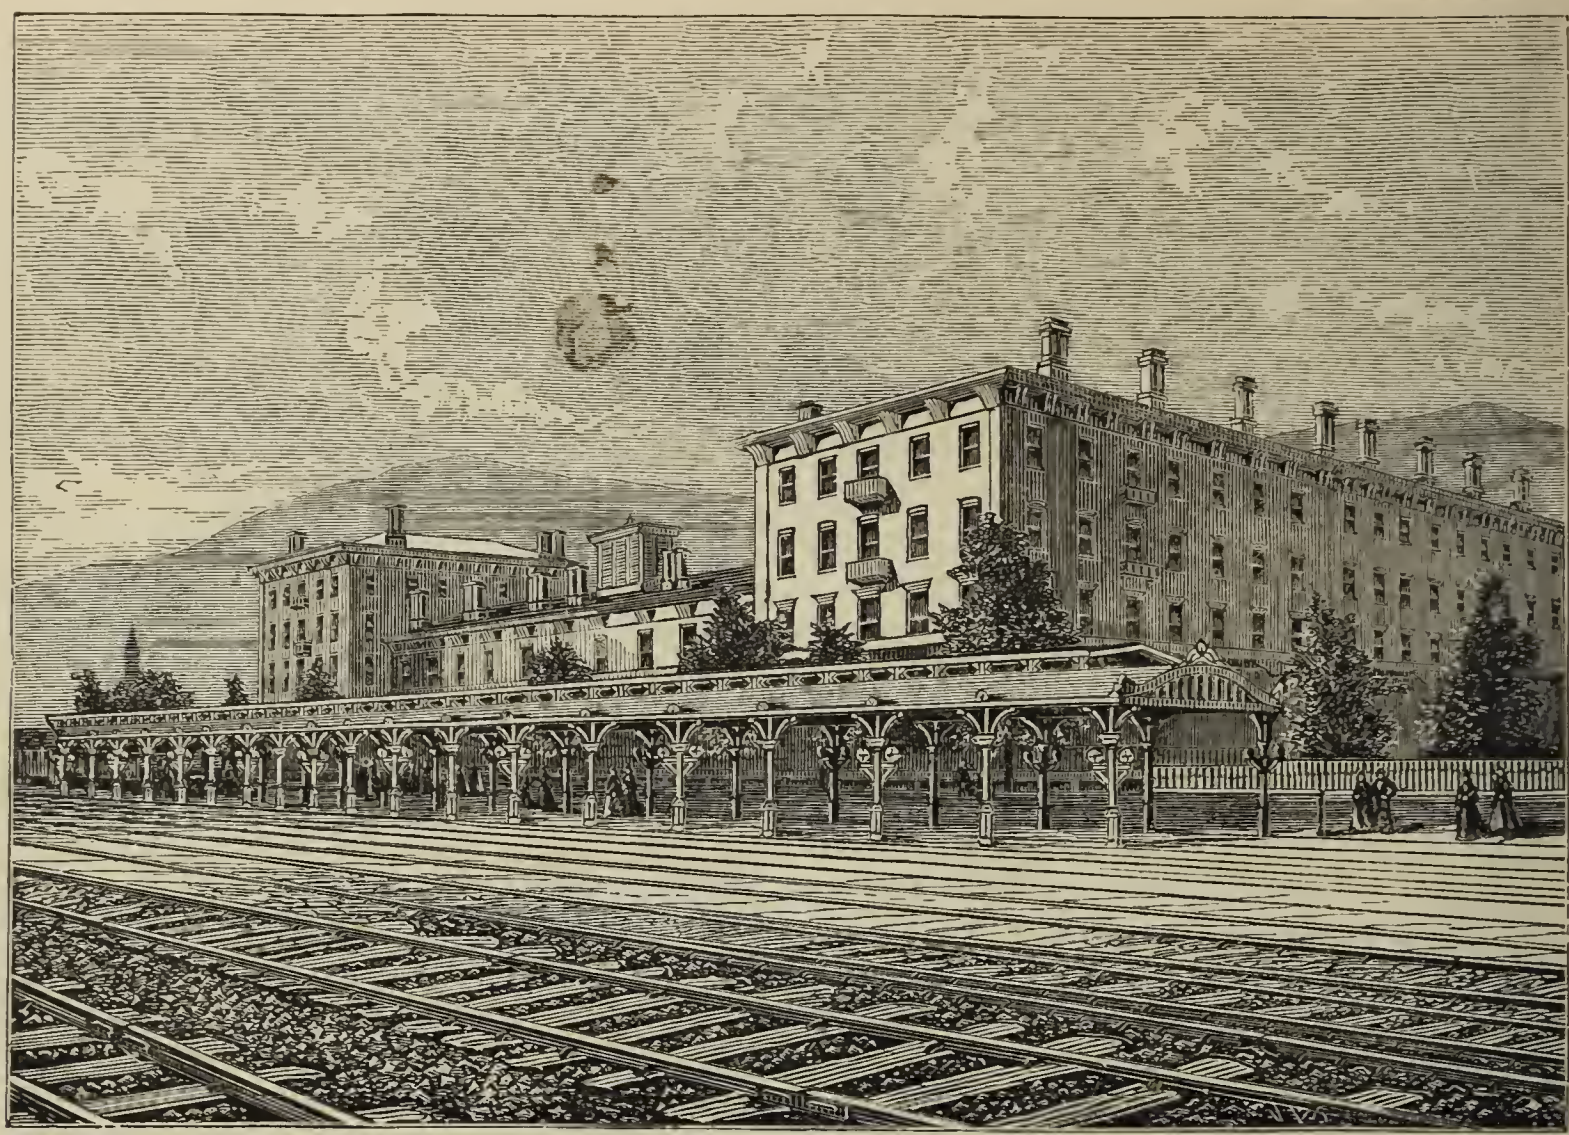
ALTOONA, PA.,

Is a borough in Blair county, Pennsylvania, containing, in 1780, apopulation of over ten thousand inhabitants. It is situated at the head of Logan valley, immediately at the base of the main Allegheny mountains, and is the location of the principal construction and repair shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad



LOGAN HOUSE, ALTOONA, PA.

Company. This Company has, in fact, created the town; and the business it concentrates here not only sustains it, but stimulates it into prosperity and rapid growth. The shops of the Company are among the most extensive and complete on the continent, and in themselves are objects of more than ordinary interest, illustrating, as they do, the perfection of American railroad management.

Southward from Altoona runs a system of branch railroads, penetrating the extensive iron deposits and rich agricultural valleys existing in Blair county. The manufacture of iron is extensively carried on all through this region, some of the establishments being large and complete. The limestone valleys are highly improved and among the most productive in Pennsylvania. Wedged in between the eastern spurs of the Alleghenies, they are surrounded by picturesque scenery, and enjoy an atmosphere of more than ordinary purity. The streams flowing through them are fed by mountain springs and are deliciously cool and clear, affording favorite homes for trout, and the angler finds the locality a paradise. Many of the springs which burst out of the rock-strata of the mountains are wonderful in their magnitude—some of them pouring forth a sufficient volume of water to run mills of various kinds. The region, being the extreme frontier during late colonial times and while the Revolutionary war was in progress, is full of historical reminiscences, and localities can be found where terrible Indian massacres occurred and deeds of heroism were performed by the pioneer settlers.

A short distance from Altoona, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, is the Horseshoe Curve, where the road bends across a deep ravine, and doubles upon itself, so that a train runs directly west and directly east in the short distance of a mile, while passing up the ascent. From this and other points on the road, before the summit is reached, grand vistas of the country below can be had. About eight miles from the town is a mountain spur called "the Wopsononoc," accessible by wheeled vehicles, from which probably the wildest perspective view in Pennsylvania is obtained, embracing the valley of the Juniata as far as the eye can reach.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.,

Among the most popular sea-side resorts on the Atlantic coast, is situated in Atlantic county, New Jersey, sixty miles southeast of Philadelphia, at the terminus of the Camden and Atlantic Railroad. It was opened for visitors on the 1st of July, 1854, and since then has improved rapidly,—the town, in 1870, containing a permanent population of 1043, and the number of visitors each season amounting to many thousands. The adjacent coast is broken by numerous indentations and inlets, affording excellent facilities for boating, fishing, and gunning. Its proximity to Philadelphia, and the facilities furnished by the railroad company, render it extremely popular for excursions of societies and organizations, and not a day passes during the "season" without one or more of these, numbering hundreds and sometimes thousands of persons, visiting it for a "ride to the sea and a dip in the waves." This great tide of constantly-shifting life gives animation to the place, and the beach, which is well adapted for bathing, presents a lively and exciting picture. The hotel accommodations are very extensive.

BEACH HAVEN, N. J.,

Is a new summer resort on the Atlantic coast, in Burlington county, New Jersey, six miles from Tuckerton. It is located on Long Beach,—a smooth, sandy promontory, having the ocean on one side and Little Egg Harbor Inlet, extending for twenty miles, on the other, giving it unsurpassed facilities for boating, bathing, sailing, fishing, and gunning. The inlet is a splendid sheet of water, full of ocean life, and offering extraordinary attractions to all who love the salt water. The sail over its smooth surface—to troll for blue-fish—to seek out its reedy fastnesses—to bathe on its sandy shores—are summer pleasures that, once enjoyed, cannot soon be forgotten. These advantages, which Beach Haven enjoys in a marked degree, are making it popular with a large and increasing number of visitors annually, and its seclusion renders it a very desirable retreat for families. The few years of its existence as a sea-side resort have secured for it a popularity that must soon elevate it to a rivalry of the old and famous resorts that dot the coast of New Jersey.

BEDFORD SPRINGS.

BEDFORD SPRINGS, PA.

No place of summer resort in America enjoys a higher reputation for health-restoring properties than these springs, which are situated in Bedford county, Pennsylvania, one mile south of the town of Bedford. Their waters are classified as purgative-chalybeate, and in their properties resemble the springs of Franzensbad, in Bohemia, and several other celebrated spas of Europe, where the mineral mud-bath is used with great advantage in cases of paralysis, rheumatism, and gout. Professor Walton, in his able work on "The Mineral Springs of the United States and Canada," published in 1873, classifies but seven springs under the head of "Purgative Waters." Of these, three are in Kentucky, one in Oregon, one in Michigan, one in Vermont, and only the Bedford Springs in the Middle States. The waters are recommended for a wide range of diseases, including those of the liver, the kidneys, and the skin, and for some of these ailments are pronounced absolute specifics. A distinguished physician, writing to the "Medical Examiner," says :—"I have, myself, twice gone to Bedford so prostrated as scarcely to endure the fatigue of the journey, and wholly disqualified for all exertion, and have in both instances returned, at the end of a fortnight or three weeks, restored to my wonted power of labor, and have witnessed similar results in the cases of friends and patients." A vast amount of testimony of a similar character might be given from men distinguished in all the walks of life, but space will not permit.

The springs were discovered in 1804, and the following year were frequented by persons afflicted with diseases, who encamped in the valley to be near the newly-discovered fountain of health. Not long afterwards accommodations were provided for visitors, and for three-score years they have regularly drawn a large number of health and pleasure seekers. The natural beauty of the valley where the springs burst forth is great, and it seems to have been formed by nature as a retreat for wearied and suffering humanity. High hills surround it, ascended by terraced walks, and from their summits pleasing vistas open. From the elevated position of these springs among the ranges of the Allegheny mountains, and the dense forest

DESCRIPTION OF

BEDFORD ALUM AND IRON SPRINGS

AND THEIR

ADVANTAGES AS A SUMMER RESORT.

THESE celebrated Springs are charmingly located in "noble old Bedford," one of Virginia's most beautiful, grand, worthy, and honored sections, in the midst of a region famed for health, fine scenery, and good society, within four miles of Forest Depot, on the Virginia & Tennessee Division of the Atlantic, Mississippi & Ohio Railroad, the same distance from Lawyer's Station, on the Washington City, Virginia Midland & Great Southern Railroad, twelve miles south west of Lynchburg, and near the village of New London. In this central portion of Midland Virginia—where mountain and plain meet and mingle, making a land more beautiful than either; where the grandeur of the one and the loveliness of the other live in the same landscape; where sea-side currents and mountain breezes perpetually fan the atmosphere into the most refreshing purity; where country comfort and quiet combine with city convenience; within four hours of the Peaks of Otter, and a day's journey of the Natural Bridge; where dampness and chill are alike unusual; on a spot classic with the great memories of the past—the "Bedford Alum" lifts up its elegant, homelike hospitality, and its health-giving waters gush forth in crystal topaz from Nature's wondrous laboratory. These Springs, this year (1878), will be opened for visitors June 1st. They are first-class and homelike, the buildings all new or thoroughly refitted and furnished with all that is necessary for comfort. The fare is all that could be desired.

TERMS: BOARD—$35 per Month; $10 per Week; $1.50 per Day. Children under Twelve Years of Age and Servants, Half Price. Laundry connected with establishment at fair rates.

☞ Comfortable conveyances will meet the trains at Lynchburg, Va., during Summer season, to convey visitors to the Springs, two hours' drive, over a pleasant road. All the amusements usual at first-class Springs will be found at these, including Dancing, Ten-Pins, Croquet, Billiards, Shooting Gallery, Gymnasium, Delightful Walks and Drives. Splendid Baths are also provided. Mosquitoes and gnats are unknown here. Mails daily. Churches near. The Company's beautiful farm of one hundred and twenty acres surrounds the Springs, and many of the supplies for the visitors and invalids are obtained fresh and pure from it.

For further particulars, address the Company at Lynchburg, Va., 78 Main Street, Box 196, or at Bedford Springs, Va.

A. M. DAVIES, President.

growth surrounding them, the atmosphere is always deliciously cool; and doubtless much of the benefit derived by visitors is owing to the fact that no suffering is experienced from midsummer sun, and that refreshing sleep can always be enjoyed.

Bedford is an old town and has an interesting history. It was the site of an important fort in colonial times, and some of the most illustrious names in American annals are associated with events occurring here towards the close of the eighteenth and in the early years of the nineteenth centuries. The adjacent country is picturesque—fertile valleys and rugged mountains, holding rich deposits of iron-ore, abounding in all directions.

BELLEFONTE, PA.,

Seat of justice of Centre county, Pennsylvania, is on the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad, which connects with the Pennsylvania Railroad at Tyrone, and with the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad at Lock Haven. Bellefonte is situated in the vicinity of some splendid mountain scenery, surrounding it with the poetry of nature, and the country immediately adjacent is very beautiful and highly improved. The town takes its name from a magnificent spring which supplies it with water. Mineral springs exist in the neighborhood, said to possess remedial properties of a high order. The great attractions of the place, however, are its picturesque locality and its health-giving atmosphere.

CAPE MAY, N. J.

THIS very popular sea-side resort is on the extreme southern point of New Jersey, having on its eastern side the Atlantic ocean and on its western Delaware bay. It is eighty-one miles by railroad from Philadelphia, and has long been the favorite resort of its citizens, although its reputation is national, and thousands of visitors are annually congregated in its hotels and cottages from all portions of the United States. The beach is over five miles long, exceedingly firm and solid, and offers every facility for the enjoyment of sea-bathing. The principal hotels are in full view of, and quite near to, the sea, affording the amplest opportunity for inhaling the salt air, as well as enjoying an uninterrupted view of the ocean, "forever changing, yet always the same."

More than half a century ago Cape May was visited by persons seeking health and recreation, but it was not until the introduction of steam-navigation that it began to develop into its present proportions and popularity. Watson, in his "Annals," says that when he visited it in 1822, it was "a village of about twenty houses, and the streets were very clean and grassy." Within the last quarter of a century its growth has been remarkably rapid, and the town now contains a permanent population of 1248. Its hotels are numerous, immense in size, and complete in their appointments, and some of its private cottages rival the finest city residences in elegance. The town is supplied with gas and water, and some of the streets, during the season, present striking pictures of business animation.

The West Jersey Railroad Company have, by their excellent and liberal management, contributed very materially to the prosperity of the place. They run the finest cars for the accommodation of passengers that reach any resort on the Atlantic, and their express trains occupy but two hours and a half between Philadelphia and Cape May. A large and complete Excursion House is owned by the company, in which every convenience is provided for transient visitors; and a new depot has just been completed, which is a model of beauty and convenience. These facilities, added to the very superior bathing afforded by the beach, cause the place to grow in popularity from season to season. It can be safely said that no sea-side resort in America surpasses Cape May in attractiveness, in excellence of location, and in facility of access, and but very few can claim to be its rivals in these respects.

Within the last two years a mineral spring has been discovered here, which proves, on analysis, to contain valuable medicinal properties, and is pronounced by medical experts to be of great value. Facilities are now arranged by which these waters can be utilized for bathing purposes, and warm sea-baths are also provided. Another improvement, which will add materially to the enjoyment of visitors, is the construction of a magnificent drive, fifty feet wide, along the whole sea front, flanked on the ocean side by a board walk ten feet wide. These are constructed in the best manner, the drive being well graveled, and connecting as it does with the principal streets of the town, forms a continuous circuit of many miles, combining the unsurpassed ocean scene and the most attractive views of the city. The board-walk sweeps along in graceful curves for a distance of near two miles, and as smooth as a ball-room floor, commanding an unobstructed prospect of the bathing-grounds on the one side and the carriage way on the other. Two of the principal avenues of the city are covered with shells from the sea, thus rendering them free from dust and delightful for promenaders and others visiting the handsome shops, hotels, and private residences extending along them.

One mile and a half west of Cape May City, and immediately on the point formed by the entrance of the Delaware bay from the Atlantic ocean, a new resort has been successfully established, called Cape May Point. A charter for this improvement, obtained from the Legislature of New Jersey, authorizes the association to develop and improve the property owned, which embraces about two hundred and sixty acres, and to so regulate its affairs as to make it a resort or summer residence for those who desire a quiet retreat and a sea-side home surrounded by religious and moral influences. The progress already made at Cape May Point is considerable, and includes the grading of wide avenues, the erection of a handsome pavilion for religious and other meetings, the construction of commodious and elegant hotels, and the building of a number of neat cottages. A horse-railroad is completed from the steamboat landing, in the immediate vicinity of Cape May Point, through Cape May to Schellinger's Landing, which renders all portions of the Cape easily and cheaply accessible. The location of this settlement, the superior advantages it possesses, its great natural beauty, and the influences brought to bear to make it in every way congenial to those who seek health and recreation in a quiet and orderly retreat, make Cape May Point one of the most attractive summer resorts to be found, where a family can spend the summer in their cottage by the sea, enjoying the air and bathing, at the same expense as at their own home.

CLAYTON, N. Y.,

Is a village in Jefferson county, New York, on the St. Lawrence river, at the confluence of the Chaumont. It is a port of entry, from which steamers run to Cape Vincent and Alexandria Bay. At this point the lumber brought from the upper lakes is made into rafts and floated to Quebec. The fishing in the vicinity of Clayton is very fine, including pike, black bass, and muskimongs of extraordinary size.

CLIFTON SPRINGS, N. Y.,

Are in Ontario county, New York, near Senaca Lake, and on the route by way of Watkins' Glen. The surrounding country, in all directions, is particularly interesting, and many remarkable points are within accessible distance. The waters are scientifically described as being calcic-sulphur, and are recommended as highly beneficial in certain diseases. They were first utilized in 1806, by the erection of suitable buildings for the accommodation of those who resorted to them from the surrounding country. Since then great improvements have been made, and the springs now enjoy a wide popularity.

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y.

THIS popular resort is the county seat of Otsego county, New York, and is situated at the south end of Otsego Lake. It is one of the literary Meccas of America, for here was the home of J. Fennimore Cooper, and in these scenes he wrote those wonderful American stories which the English-reading world have placed on a level of popularity with the undying fictions of Walter Scott. In his "Deer-slayer" he thus describes the lake and surrounding hills:—"On a level with the point lay a broad sheet of water, so placid and limpid that it resembled a bed of the pure mountain atmosphere compressed into a setting of hills and woods. At its northern end it was bounded by an isolated mountain; lower land, falling off east and west, gracefully relieving the sweep of the outline; still the character of the country was mountainous; high hills or low mountains rising abruptly from the water on quite nine-tenths of its circuit. But the most striking peculiarities of the scene were its solemn solitude and sweet repose. On all sides, wherever the eye turned, nothing met it but the mirror-like surface of the lake, and the dense setting of woods. So rich and fleecy were the outlines of the forest that the whole visible earth, from the rounded mountain-top to the water's edge, presented one unvaried hue of unbroken verdure." A late guide-book says:—"The same points still exist which 'Leather-Stocking' saw. There is the same beauty of verdure along the hills, and the sun still glints as brightly as then the ripples of the clear water." The whole region is full of interest because of the creations of Cooper's genius, and his romances have a new zest and beauty when read amid the scenes that inspired them. The surroundings of the lake are all beautiful, and the entire region is attractive. In close proximity to Cooperstown are several favorite resorts, accessible by a small steamer running on the lake, which is widely famed for its bass and pickerel fishing.

CRESSON, PA.,

Situated almost on the summit of the Allegheny mountains, where they are crossed by the Pennsylvania Railroad, at an altitude of two thousand feet above the level of the sea, is a very popular resort. The accommodations provided are of the best kind; the surroundings are attractive; the atmosphere is deliciously cool and pure; and, in brief, it would be difficult to find a more delightful retreat from the stifling heat of cities in midsummer than is here provided by nature and art combined. Several springs of medicinal waters flow from the mountain in the vicinity, and pleasant drives lead away through the almost unbroken forests, where the laurel spreads its wealth of blossoms in spring, and resinous hemlocks and pines give forth their aroma and sigh their ceaseless music. The old Portage Road, with its ten inclined planes—once an American wonder, but now abandoned—crossed the mountain very near to Cresson, and in its ruins possesses great interest for all who note the advance of improvement.

DELAWARE WATER GAP.

The Delaware river, above Trenton, New Jersey, is one of the most picturesquely beautiful streams in the United States, and its attractions may be said to culminate at the Water Gap, where it forces its way through the Kittatinny, or Blue Ridge, range of the Allegheny mountains. Here its channel is cut through precipices which rise more than a thousand feet above the waters, often overhangs them in frowning cliffs, ready, apparently, to fall and stop again the river's course to the ocean. For many years the natural beauties of this locality have attracted crowds of summer visitors, and superior improvements have been provided for their accommodation. In the immediate vicinity of the hotels are many natural curiosities, consisting of beautiful cascades and waterfalls, peculiar caves and glens, towering precipices and frowning chasms. They are all accessible without danger or fatigue, and are well worth visiting. The placid and clear waters of the river afford excellent boating and fishing.

It is not generally known that possibly the first white settlements made in Pennsylvania were on the Minnisink flats of the Delaware, immediately above the Water Gap. To this point the Dutch penetrated, and here they established themselves, when they held New Amsterdam (now New York), previous to the English acquisition of the same in 1664. These settlements extend for forty miles along the river. They had a good road, connecting with the Hudson, called the Mine road; and they were certainly engaged in working mines of some kind, but what they were, or where they were, is not now known. They had no knowledge of the Lower Delaware, and did not appear to know how or where it reached the ocean, when Penn arrived in 1682. All their trade and communication was with the settlements on the Hudson river. Geologically, as well as historically, this region is worthy of study.

DOUBLING GAP WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, PA.

These springs are situated in, and take their name from, a gap formed by the doubling of the Kittatinny mountains, about thirty miles south-west of Harrisburg and seven miles from Newville, in the great Cumberland valley. The waters, which flow from two springs,—one sulphurous and the other chalybeate,—contain valuable remedial properties, recommended by medical authorities for various diseases. They have long been frequented by visitors, and deservedly enjoy a high degree of popularity. Located on the verge of one of the most extensive and beautiful valleys in the United States, where the air is remarkably pure and the adjacent mountains unsurpassed for picturesque attractiveness, they present many charms, aside from their healing and rejuvenating waters. This entire region is one of great natural beauty and historic interest, and no more delightful route could be selected for a summer journey than the Cumberland valley from the Susquehanna to the Potomac.

EBENSBURG, PA.,

The seat of justice of Cambria county, Pennsylvania, is situated on the western slope of the Allegheny mountains, eleven miles from Cresson, with which point it is connected by a branch railroad. The situation of the town is very near the mountain summit, and from the centre of its main street the horizon sinks away in all directions—the sun setting below the level of the observer. Dense forests of hemlock, beech, and other varieties of American mountain woods, are accessible in all directions, the roads leading through them afford delightful drives, while bringing into view many bits of charming scenery, relieved by the soft ferns and thick-growing laurel, nourished to perfection by the limpid waters everywhere issuing from the gigantic mountain. Its altitude gives Ebensburg a delightfully cool and bracing atmosphere—the air coming freely from the long reaches of primeval verdure, laden with a rich fragrance as grateful to the senses as it is invigorating to the system. For years the town has been a favorite resort for families, who come here early in the season and remain till the frosts of autumn indicate a return of salubrity to the crowded cities. The accommodations provided for these sojourners are on an extensive scale, and probably as much quiet enjoyment is to be had here as at any place of the kind in America.

A peculiarity of Ebensburg is the predominance of the Welsh element in its population and idiosyncrasies. The name of the county is an ancient name of Wales; the town perpetuates the name of Eben, a son of its founder, who came from Wales; the Welsh language is commonly heard in the streets; and religious services are regularly held in the strange dialect. A short distance off, in the forest, the ruins of Beulah—a village founded before Ebensburg, and subsequently abandoned by its inhabitants—stand in dilapidated seclusion, crumbling walls and overgrown gardens showing how rapidly the work of man yields to the forces of nature when the battle of the former ceases.

SENECA LAKE "Is one of the most remarkable inland bodies of water in the world. It is forty miles long, and varies from two to five miles in width. The water is of great purity and depth, in many places it being impossible to reach bottom by any ordinary method of sounding. The shores are grand and picturesque, consisting of a succession of hills and promontories, sweeping back from the lake in graceful lines,—their sides thickly wooded in some places, in others covered with well-tilled farms and vineyards." The region surrounding Seneca Lake was, in the remote past, doubtless the scene of wonderful and terrible natural convulsions, by which the lake itself was reduced to half its former size, and the face of the entire north-eastern portion of the continent changed. These changes have left their impress in the glens, valleys, waterfalls, and other wonders which exist from Lake Erie to the Atlantic ocean, and render the region interesting to the student of science as well as to the admirer of grandeur and beauty.

GETTYSBURG, PA.

This historic town is the seat of justice of Adams county, Pennsylvania, and is about seven miles north of "Mason and Dixon's line,"—the often-quoted parallel which formerly separated the slaveholding from the free territory of the United States. It was settled about 1780 by James Gettys (on a portion of "Masque Manor," owned by the heirs of William Penn), laid out as a town by him, and named after himself, six years later. It became the county seat at the formation of the county, and was incorporated as a borough in 1806. The present population is about 3200. "The battle of Gettysburg—equal in magnitude, in gallantry and desperation of the combatants, in human slaughter, and in the vast interests which hung upon the issue, to any recorded in history—has brought the name of Gettysburg from rural obscurity to world-wide celebrity." The battle-field embraces the town and the surrounding country—the infantry operations covering about twenty-five square miles, the cavalry fighting being outside these limits. This area is generally open and the surface rolling, though deep forests, high hills, and rocky ravines are not infrequent. All the principal scenes of the battle are well known and defined, so that the visitor has but little difficulty in reaching them and studying out the details of the terrible contest. The point of greatest attraction is the Soldiers' National Cemetery, consecrated on the 19th of November, 1863, when President Lincoln, standing where the national monument now stands, delivered his immortal speech. The monument is a beautiful work of art, erected by the several States to commemorate the memory of the men who died in the nation's defense, and tells its story with effective simplicity. A statue of Major-General John F. Reynolds, who was killed in the battle, is the first object that meets the eye on entering the cemetery.

The katalysine spring is situated about a mile and a half west of the town of Gettysburg, in a pleasant valley, from which the South and Catoctin mountains are visible. The value of the water was long known to the neighboring inhabitants, but it has only been brought to public notice since the contest around it made the locality famous. The annexed analysis proves the water to be both of an alkaline and calcic character—the combination being an exceedingly valuable one:—

Bi-carbonate of soda and lithia combined, 46.05 grains; bi-carbonate of potash, trace; bi-carbonate of magnesia, 76.05 grains; bi-carbonate of iron, trace; bi-carbonate of lime, 81.00 grains; sulphate of lime, 53.20 grains; chlorides, trace; phosphates, trace; silica, 10.00 grains; total, 266.30 grains in one imperial gallon of water.

WHITE MOUNTAINS,

Aptly styled the "Switzerland of America," have long been a favorite resort for summer travelers. These mountains are situated in Coos county, New Hampshire, and consist of a number of peaks from four to six thousand feet high,—the most elevated being Mount Washington, which rises to an altitude of six thousand two hundred and forty-three feet above the level of the sea. It is the centre of attraction for tourists in the region, and around it are clustered many points of interest, each having its peculiar charm. "The Notch" is a narrow gorge—the entrance being but twenty feet wide—between two enormous cliffs, and extends for a distance of two miles, abounding in cascades and precipices. "Franconia Notch" contains several natural curiosities, among which is the "Flume," a waterfall of two hundred and fifty feet. "The Old Man of the Mountain" is a profile of the human face, delineated with striking exactness by a peculiar combination of the surfaces and angles of five massive granite blocks, at the height of a thousand feet, on the summit of a bold and jutting cliff. "Tuckerman's Ravine," the "Gulf of Mexico," and "Oake's Gulf" are deep ravines, in which snow and ice remain until late in the summer. The "Devil's Den," "Gibbs' Falls," "Falls of the Ammonoosuc," and other well-known attractions, are all crowded in this wonderful region, and are accessible to visitors without danger or serious inconvenience. Excellent hotels are located in the immediate vicinity of most of the places enumerated. The ascent of Mount Washington is now made by a peculiarly-constructed railway, and the journey is entirely safe, while it certainly supplies all the elements of the picturesque and exciting. From the top, where a house is erected for the accommodation of tourists, a wonderful view is enjoyed, embracing the Green mountains of Vermont on the west; the White mountains and Franconia range on the south-west; the distant mountains of Canada on the north; the Atlantic ocean on the east, and Lake Winnipesaukee and the mountains surrounding it on the south; while various rivers, small lakes, towns, and hamlets fill in and complete the picture. The house on the summit is used as a signal-station throughout the year by the United States Government.

HAVANA GLEN, N. Y.,

Is one of the remarkable freaks of nature clustered in the vicinity of Seneca Lake, and fairly rivals Watkins' Glen in attractiveness and mysterious beauty. Formed by the same powers, and finished by similar elemental action, the features of this glen resemble while they vary in detail widely from those of its better-known neighbor. Every visitor should see them both, so that a clear comprehension can be had of the power that works unseen and leaves monuments that humanity cannot rival. Good accommodations are now provided at Havana Glen, and it is open to visitors in all its extent.

ITHACA, N. Y.,

Is the seat of justice of Tompkins county, New York, and is situated on both sides of Cayuga Inlet, near the head of Cayuga Lake, which is thirty-eight miles long and from one to three and a half miles wide. The town is handsomely built, containing many elegant edifices, and commands an extended view of the scenery for which the lake is justly celebrated. Cornell University, a richly-endowed and widely-known institution of learning, open to students of both sexes on very liberal terms, is located here. The town is the centre of many natural attractions, prominent among which is Ithaca Gorge, which is entered immediately from a principal street, and abounds in waterfalls and other grand natural wonders. It is said that there are one hundred and fifty falls and cascades within ten miles of the borough. Steamboats ply daily between Ithaca and the lower end of the lake.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (CHAUTAUQUA LAKE.)

Chautauqua Lake.—This beautiful little sheet of water, twenty-two miles long and from two to three wide, is situated in the county of the same name, in the extreme western corner of the State of New York. It is one of the most elevated bodies of water in the Middle States, being seven hundred and thirty-three feet higher than Lake Erie, and nearly fourteen hundred feet above ocean level. The lake is encircled by well-wooded mountains, and abounds in fish of various kinds. Steamers ply between Mayville, at the northern end of the lake, and Jamestown, at its southern extremity, affording not only a pleasant excursion, but enabling visitors to reach or view many points of interest and attraction along its shores. About five miles south from the lake is a wonderful collection of rocks, rent and torn by some convulsion of nature into many strange shapes, and abounding in grottoes, chasms, corridors, and caverns. The entire region is very charming in summer—its elevated position and dense forest surroundings making it bracing and healthful, while nature has been lavish enough in its adornment to render it at all times interesting. Chautauqua Lake is directly accessible via the Philadelphia and Erie and the Buffalo, Corry and Pittsburg Railroads.

KANE, PA.

THIS pleasant and popular resort is located on the highest summit reached by the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad, at an altitude of more than two thousand feet above tide. Its elevation and dense hemlock and pine forest surroundings give it an atmosphere of peculiar rarity and healthfulness, very beneficial in cases of asthma, hay-fever, and other diseases of the respiratory organs. "The country adjacent to this station is celebrated for the production of milk, butter, and cheese,—the manufacture of the latter article being an important industry, prosecuted on an extensive scale. The markets are abundant,—game, mountain trout, and the luscious fruits of the forest being obtainable in any quantities when in season. Sulphur and iron springs burst forth near the hotel, and throughout all the regions limpid streams and pools abound, filled with the speckled trout so attractive to fishermen, and in some of which the breeding and rearing of these beauties is scientifically carried on. The forests, almost interminable in extent, are intersected with good, dry roads, carpeted by the cast foliage of hemlocks and pines and arched by their perennial verdure, where drives and walks afford unalloyed enjoyment. Deer are frequently seen browsing on the herbage or bounding through the woods; rabbits scamper along the roads; pheasants awaken the echoes with their drumming, and silent woodcock whir away from approaching humanity to seek more secluded retreats. Sportsmen can always procure safe, experienced guides to pilot them where guns and rods can be brought into active play, and the lover of nature can find many places to pause at and scenes to remember." The "Thomson House," at this station, is a large and very superior hotel, elaborately furnished, and combining all the comforts of the finest summer resorts.

LONG BRANCH, N. J.,

One of the most popular sea-side resorts in America, is in Monmouth county, New Jersey. It was visited for health and recreation previous to 1812, and soon after the termination of the war with Great Britain hotels were opened for the accommodation of visitors. Still its magnitude is of recent growth, and the last fifteen years have done more for its development and improvement than the preceding fifty had accomplished. Its hotel accommodations are sufficient for fifteen thousand persons, yet each recurring season crowds them to their full capacity. Elegant and spacious cottages, owned and occupied by persons of distinction, line the principal avenues for long distances, some of them being surrounded with extensive grounds, highly ornamented and carefully kept.

The beach at Long Branch is famous for its natural grandeur, as well as for its artificial attractions. It is an open bluff, rising some twenty feet or more above the tide-line, and extending a distance of five miles. Along this the grand drive is constructed and the principal hotels are erected. Here during the season, showy and elegant equipages dash, in passing and repassing lines, while the verandas and porticoes are thronged with spectators. No view could well be more animated and attractive than this, with its life, gaiety, and beauty, relieved by the wide and restless ocean, swelling and rolling in boundless perspective. Some of the inland drives are equally pleasant, and, in fact, the facilities everywhere offered for this exhilarating enjoyment may be ranked as one of the attractions of the place.

The Monmouth Park Race-course is a few miles from Long Branch, and its annual meetings rank among the most popular in America. These take place during the "season," and the list of entries generally embraces all the famous horses of the turf. Nothing on this side of the Atlantic so nearly approaches an English "Derby day" as a sweepstake at Monmouth Park, when the multitudes from New York, Philadelphia, and all other adjacent cities and towns, pour out to witness the famed steeds contend for the championship.

LORETTO SPRINGS, PA.,

A centre of Catholic religion and learning, founded in 1789 by Father Gallitzin, a prince of the house of that name in Russia, is six miles from Cresson, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, with which station it is connected by regular stage lines. The location of Loretto is near the summit of the Allegheny mountains, and in consequence it enjoys an atmosphere of extraordinary purity and coolness, while its forest surroundings make it peculiarly attractive during the summer months.

MINNEQUA SPRINGS, PA.

No place in the Middle States has so rapidly grown in popular favor as the Minnequa Springs, located in the Towanda valley, at a considerable elevation above sea level, in the midst of an agreeable landscape and surrounded by dense forests, where the woods and streams afford excellent sport for huntsmen and fishermen. The improvements have been made with judgment and liberality, and among each season's guests are now included many of the prominent men of the country, who visit the springs for the complete repose offered by their quiet seclusion, as well as for the benefit to be derived from their waters. An analysis of these made by Dr. Cresson gives the following results:—Total solid contents in one U. S. gallon, 7.652; calcium, 0.994; magnesium, 0.207; sodium, 0.722; lithium, trace; aluminium, 0.127; iron, trace; manganese, 0.266; chlorine, 0.140; silica, 0.700; zinc, 0.028; carbonic acid, 2.053; boracic acid, 2.132; oxygen (with silicates), 0.138; loss, 0.145. Temperature of spring, 47° Fahr. Amount of sample, twenty-five United States gallons. The active ingredients are the salts of manganese and zinc. The metals are of unusual occurrence. One of them, manganese, is found in the following celebrated springs:—Ems, Nassau; Spa, Belgium; Carlsbad, Bohemia; Pyrmont, Weldeck; Weisbaden, Nassau; and Garonne, Toulouse.

MONTREAL.

Lake Champlain.—This useful, as well as beautiful, sheet of water, lies between the States of New York and Vermont, and extends a short distance into Canada It is, in extreme length, about one hundred and thirty miles, and varies in width from half a mile to fifteen miles,—the water, in places, being near three hundred feet deep. Its principal outlet is the Richelieu river, which empties into the St. Lawrence about fifty miles below Montreal. Tributaries of the Hudson river rise within a few miles of the lake, and its surface might reasonably be considered a continuation of that valley, slightly tilted, so as to throw its water northward. The Vermont shores of the lake are generally fertile and well cultivated, while those of New York are wild, rocky, and barren, rising into vast mountains, and contain rich iron deposits. Lake Champlain is connected with the St. Lawrence by the Chambly canal, and with the Hudson river and Erie canal by the Champlain canal. These connections give it an important commerce, which continues from April to December. The name it bears is that of Samuel Champlain, a French naval officer, who discovered it in 1609.

The shores of Lake Champlain are not only interesting in themselves, but they hold many places of celebrity and attractiveness. The ruins of old Fort Ticonderoga stand out upon a high, rocky bluff at the confluence of the outlet of Lake George with Lake Champlain. The remains of the fortress at Crown Point loom up opposite to Chimney Point, which the French occupied in 1731. The localities where Burgoyne held his famous Indian council and made his treaty, and where Arnold fought with Carleton, are pointed out. Plattsburg, the scene of the battles on the 11th of September, 1814, in which Commodore McDonough gained his signal naval victory, and General Macomb compelled Sir George Provost to retire into Canada, is the most conspicuous and interesting point on the lake. Numerous natural curiosities exist on its islands and shores, but space will not permit their mention here. Burlington, a beautiful city on the Vermont shore, is well worth the attention of the tourist. From Plattsburg, the Adirondacks are reached with facility. Port Kent, on the western bank of the lake, is the most convenient point for tourists to Au Sable Chasm, and one of the starting points for the Adirondacks.

LAKE GEORGE.—Few, if any, among the numerous picturesque lakes in America are more beautiful or more celebrated than this, which lies between the counties of Washington and Warren, in the State of New York, and is thirty-six miles long, varying in breadth from three-quarters of a mile to four miles, and in many places is four hundred feet in depth. It is in the midst of mountains, and popular belief credits it with islands equal in number to the days of the year. History, as well as tradition, lingers around it, marking many spots with more than ordinary interest. Not the least among these are the ruins of Fort William Henry and Fort George. The lake has had many names conferred upon it, both by Indians and white men. The former generally called it Lake Horicon; the French named it Le lac du St. Sacrament, and were in the habit of carrying its remarkably pure water many miles for baptismal purposes. Sir William Johnson, prompted by his loyalty, named it Lake George, after one of the Georges of Great Britain, and this title has been permitted to remain as its designation, although it cannot justly be considered appropriate or elegant. A writer, describing the many attractions of the lake, says:—"It has something of interest for every one—the lover of history, of romance, of beauty, and lovers generally."

MOUNT PISGAH (SWITCHBACK R. R.).

At the foot of this eminence, rising in almost perpendicular ascent to a height of fifteen hundred feet above tide, is the town of Mauch Chunk,—in the Indian language signifying Bear Mountain,—a great centre of anthracite coal operations. Crowded in among mountains, where the Lehigh river forces a passage with many curves and bends, and where almost the only relief to precipices are ravines, the enterprise and ingenuity of man had here to encounter nature in its most forbidding aspects; but the mineral wealth hidden in the region was sufficient incentive to the herculean task, and now railroads and canals intersect it in all directions, and industry has reaped a rich reward for its labors in their construction. Anthracite coal was discovered here by a hunter in 1791, fifteen years before the region was settled, and in 1812 mining operations were begun, but proved unprofitable until about 1820, when the Lehigh Navigation and the Lehigh Coal Companies commenced the thorough development of the region. Since then it has made rapid progress, and now is a hive of industry and productiveness. The "Switchback Railroad" over Mount Pisgah, Glen Onoko, and many other wonderful attractions, exist in the region, rendering it an interesting and pleasant resort.

LAKE MOHONK,

One of the most entrancingly beautiful spots in the Empire State, is in Ulster county, about five miles distant from New Paltz, a station on the Wallkill Valley Railway. The lake is a small, deep, cool, and clear sheet of water, located near the summit of Sky-Top, one of the loftiest of the Shawangunk mountains, at an altitude of twelve hundred feet above the Hudson river. Some six years ago it was opened as a resort for visitors, and since then has grown rapidly in popular favor, calling forth the most enthusiastic encomiums from artists and men of letters. One of these writes:—"There is an endless variety in the wondrous rock scenery, and a whole season would hardly suffice to explore this wild and wonderful labyrinth. But from two summits—Sky-Top and Eagle's Cliff—an outlook is gained not inferior to any in the whole Catskill region; in some respects unrivaled in America. The valleys of the Rondout and the Wallkill lie below, beautiful as paradise. Eastward can be traced the course of the Hudson, and the line of the Green Mountains, with their most commanding summits. The whole western horizon is crowded by piled-up walls of azure, stretching from the Alleghenies in the south-west to the cone of Overlook in the north." Another enthusiastically exclaims:—"Up, up we climbed above the monarchs of the forest; up where the air is rarefied; up to the height of a thousand feet or more; when, lo! a vision of enchantment is before us. O divers after beauty! here is the pearl of it,—the crystal, hillocked Mohonk Lake. We wish we could describe it to you as it looked that bright July day, sparkling in the sunlight, as it always looks, for no strife of the elements, however fierce, ruffles or disturbs its placidity. The storm-king cannot even jog its rock-bound cradle." The "Mountain House"—the only hotel at the lake—is kept on strict temperance principles, and the resort is, in addition to its great natural attractions, one of peculiar repose.

NEWPORT, R. I.

THIS "Queen of American watering-places," and semi-capital of the State of Rhode Island, in the language of a recent guide-book, is on the south-west shore of the island from which the State is named, and fronts, across its harbor, on Narragansett bay. Its older portion, lying near the wharves, has many narrow streets, bordered with the residences of the permanent inhabitants, many of which are mansions of olden time. New Newport almost surrounds the old town, and stretches away to the south with a great number of handsome villas and cottages. The bathing and boating at Newport are fine, the drives over the "Isle of Peace" are varied and pleasant; but the chief charm of the place is its balmy and equable climate, due, according to most opinions, to a divergence in this direction of the waters of the Gulf Stream. Dean Berkeley likened the atmosphere of Newport to that of Italy, while another writer speaks of the damp sea air and equable climate as resembling those of England. Fogs are of frequent occurrence, but of short duration. The feature of private cottages is largely developed here, and hotel life is quite subordinate to it.

Newport is the favorite summer resort of foreign residents in America, and several of the embassadors from Europe have cottages here. It is also a resort of the literati, as well as of many of the most influential business men of New York and Boston. During the height of the season, the grand drive on Bellevue avenue rivals, in the number and elegance of its equipages, Hyde Park and the Bois de Boulogne. In and around the city are many interesting and beautiful localities. Buildings erected long before the Revolutionary war, and occupied during the period of the struggle by Washington, Rochambeau, and others of distinction, are still standing. Scores of natural and artificial curiosities are enumerated in the guide-books, and contribute to the charm of the place. The visitor can occupy days in studying these attractions, and in the pursuit will find information as well as pleasure.

NIAGARA FALLS.

THIS is a world's wonder that cannot be described. Its dimensions may be given,—its height and breadth and volume can be told,—but still much is lacking. Words cannot convey any satisfactory idea of its stupendousness—its awfulness. To look at the ceaseless rush of waters—to listen to their majestic voice—to feel the earth tremble beneath their power—make one wish that the Psalmist had seen it when he wrote that "the heavens declare the glory of God, the firmament showeth His work," for here the earth also evidences His greatness. Charles Dickens, when he first visited America, felt himself unable to describe the scene, and only succeeded in eloquently sketching his emotions. "When we were seated in the little ferry-boat," he says, "and were crossing the swollen river immediately before both cataracts, I began to feel what it was; but I was in a manner stunned, and unable to comprehend the vastness of the scene. It was not until I came on Table Rock and looked—great heavens! on what a fall of bright green water—that it came upon me in its full might and majesty. . . . . Niagara was at once stamped upon my heart, an image of beauty, to remain there changeless and indelible until its pulses cease to beat forever. . . . . I think in every quiet season now, still do those waters roll and leap and roll and tumble all day long; still are the rainbows spanning them a hundred feet below. Still, when the sun is on them, do they shine and glow like molten gold. Still, when the day is gloomy, do they fall like snow, or seem to crumble away like the front of a great chalk cliff, or roll down the rock like dense white smoke. But always does the mighty stream appear to die as it comes down, and always from the unfathomable grave arises that tremendous ghost of spray and mist which is never laid, which has haunted this place with the same dread solemnity since darkness brooded on the deep, and that first flood before the deluge—light—came rushing on creation at the Word of God." Every intelligent traveler must see Niagara for himself, and to each it conveys its own description. Useful as guide and hand books may be, they are insignificant in their teachings beside "the voice of the Great Creator that dwells in its mighty tone."

EASTERN RAILROAD.

THE FAVORITE

SEA-SHORE ROUTE,

With its numerous branches following the NEW ENGLAND COAST, is a string of OCEAN PEARLS from BOSTON TO PORTLAND.

NO OTHER RAILROAD IN THE UNITED STATES, upon an equal length of line, threads so many bright SEA-COAST TOWNS and SUMMER RESORTS.

Throughout the height of the season it is literally a summer city, and the ENVIRONS OF BOSTON may be said to extend almost to MAINE.

THE VISITORS AND RESIDENTS of this SEA-SIDE REGION are not drawn from Boston alone, but from all the CENTRES OF WEALTH in all parts of the land, whose COUNTRY-SEATS and CHATEAUS along the EASTERN RAILROAD for miles north-east of Boston represent the Middle, Southern, and Western element of the well-to-do and PLEASURE-LOVING.

The Equipment of the Eastern Railroad is Unexcelled.

All Modern Improvements in Railroading are Utilized.

Pullman's Celebrated Parlor Cars are run on Day Trains.

All Trains are Controlled by Hall's famous Electric Signals.

IT IS THE ONLY LINE RUNNING

PULLMAN'S DRAWING-ROOM SLEEPING CARS ON NIGHT TRAINS

BETWEEN

BOSTON and BANGOR.

IT IS THE BEST ROUTE TO REACH THE VARIOUS BEACHES:

MANCHESTER BY THE SEA, HAMPTON AND RYE, THE ISLE OF SHOALS, OLD ORCHARD BEACH (VIA SACO),
MOUNT DESERT, RANGELEY LAKES,
AND
MT. KINEO HOUSE, ON MOOSEHEAD LAKE.

FOR THE

White Mountains via North Conway,

And through the NOTCH to the

CRAWFORD HOUSE, FABYAN'S, PROFILE HOUSE, GLEN HOUSE,
BETHLEHEM, TWIN MOUNTAIN HOUSE,

And last, but not least,

GRAND OLD MOUNT WASHINGTON.

The line of the EASTERN RAILROAD is unsurpassed for GRANDEUR and SUBLIMITY of SCENERY.

TWO DAILY TRAINS from and to BOSTON, with OBSERVATION CARS ATTACHED, PASS THROUGH THE NOTCH.

Excursion Tickets by this FAVORITE LINE, in connection with the different Sound Lines and all-rail routes, can be obtained on application to any of the Agencie of the Pennsylvania Railroad. For Routes and Rates, reference can be made under the appropriate heading in other portions of this Work.

EXCURSION TICKETS AT REDUCED RATES can also be obtained at the different Offices of the Sound Lines and Railroad Offices generally in New York, and at the EASTERN RAILROAD DEPOT on Causeway street, Boston.

OCEAN BEACH, N. J.,

Ranks among the most attractive and pleasant sea-side resorts on the eastern coast of New Jersey, a region which is rapidly becoming famous for its summer retreats. The many beautiful bays and quiet inlets in this locality afford the finest fishing and boating facilities in America, while the healthfulness of the breezy atmosphere is unsurpassed.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

A FEW years ago some of the ministers and members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York conceived the design of establishing by the sea-side, a camp-ground and a summer retreat for Christian families. They secured a plot of ground six miles from Long Branch, dedicated it to religious purposes, and commenced its improvement, under the title of the "Ocean Grove Camp-Ground," of Monmouth county, New Jersey. The association is authorized to make its own laws, and they have framed these so as to secure, for all time, the purposes had in view when the work was commenced. No intoxicating drinks are permitted on the ground. Boating, bathing, and driving are strictly prohibited on the Sabbath. All behavior unbecoming the repose of such a place is at once suppressed. These regulations, and the natural advantages of the location, make it a pleasant and quiet place, where families can remain free from intrusion and annoyance, and where the beneficial effects of sea-air and sea-bathing can be enjoyed without the expense and tax upon the system exacted by resorts at which fashion and folly too often rule. A large number of cottages have been erected on the grounds, and they increase rapidly each season. The style of these cottages, being limited only by the means and taste of the builder, varies from the cheapest to the most ornate, but all are homelike and cozy. In August of every year a camp-meeting is held on the grounds reserved for the purpose, continuing two weeks, and attracts an immense concourse of visitors. Ample provision is made for the accommodation of these, and tents are rented during the camp-meeting, or longer, if desired, at very reasonable rates. Ocean Grove is a peculiar institution, differing widely from ordinary sea-side resorts, but is undoubtedly a popular and successful one.

PORT KENT, N. Y.

AU SABLE CHASM.—This remarkable natural wonder is formed by the egress of Au Sable river from the northern end of the Adirondack mountains, in New York, on its way to Lake Champlain. The river has carved a channel in the Potsdam sandstone formation, in some places reaching a depth of about two hundred feet, leaving precipices of every shape towering above the dark water. At one place the river is compressed to a breadth of only ten feet, and again widens to fifty. The waters dash madly through their confined channel, and are precipitated over falls, cascades, and rapids.—the first fall being twenty and the second sixty feet high. The length of the chasm proper is nearly two miles, and its sides and tops are fringed with cedars, which cast a sombre shadow over it and add to its mysterious grandeur. Frederika Bremer said that "a visit to the chasm would reward a voyage from Europe;" and it is asserted by experienced travelers that it rivals the famous Swiss Gorge du Trient. Au Sable Chasm is reached by any of the excursion routes passing over Lake Champlain or the Delaware and Hudson Canal, Champlain Division, by a line of stages from Port Kent, over a plank road of three miles in length, about twenty minutes' drive.

RENOVO, PA.

This pleasant summer resort is delightfully situated in a little oval valley, formed by a separation of mountain ranges rising around it to a hight of more than a thousand feet, through which the West Branch of the Susquehanna river glides in a placid and pellucid current. It is the location of the principal workshops of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad Company, and the industry centred here by these improvements is the life and stimulus of the place, causing it to grow, in a period of about ten years, from an isolated farm into a town of more than two thousand inhabitants. The scenery in the vicinity is charmingly picturesque—in some localities rising to sublimity and grandeur. Renovo may be said to lie almost in the heart of the great pine forests of Pennsylvania, and the depth of those mysterious woods, where the sportsman will find ample uses both for the gun and the rod, can readily be reached from it. The hotel at Renovo, erected and owned by the railroad company, is large and comfortable, affording accommodations unsurpassed in excellence.

RICHFIELD SPRINGS, N. Y.

These springs, long and favorably known, are in Otsego county, New York, in the vicinity of Cooperstown, and seven miles distant from Otsego Lake, which is one of the sources of the Susquehanna. The great river of Pennsylvania here extends his arms and entwines his fingers with the tributaries of the Mohawk, as if to divert that gentle river from its allegiance to the Hudson. The village of Richfield Springs is situated upon a narrow plain, near the head of Schuyler Lake, which is five miles in length and a mile and a quarter at its greatest breadth. The little lake is surrounded with high hills on every side, except the northward, and being but a mile from the springs, forms the principal attraction for visitors. According to tradition, the waters of these springs were sought for their medicinal virtues by the Indians long before the advent of the white man. A healing prophet of the Iroquois dwelt on an island in the midst of the lake, and the suffering came to him to be cured by the waters he secured at night and conveyed secretly to his retreat; but the Great Spirit became angered at his pride, and sunk him and his island beneath the deep waters.

SACKETT'S HARBOR, N. Y.,

At the extreme eastern end of Lake Ontario, in Jefferson county, New York, is noted in American history as the principal naval station on the lakes during the second war with Great Britain, and is the site of a military post named Madison Barracks, at present not garrisoned. It is one of the finest harbors on the lakes, and formerly had a large trade with Canada; but since 1846 this trade has considerably declined. The country around Sackett's Harbor is full of historic interest, and presents many natural attractions. Near Carthage, twenty-eight miles distant, Joseph Bonaparte, ex-King of Spain and brother of the great Napoleon, first made his home when he came to America in 1829, and

"Here he forgot La Grange's glades,
Escurial's dark and gloomy dome,
And sweet Sorrento's deathless shades,
In his far-off, secluded home."

Prince Sulknowski, banished from his native Poland, spent several years here previous to his return to Europe in 1856. From Sackett's Harbor many agreeable and interesting points are accessible both by rail and water.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.

THIS world-famed resort is in Saratoga county, New York, about thirty-eight miles north of Albany, and is said to have been visited by invalids as early as 1773, but the principal spring was not discovered until 1792. The springs rise in a stratum of Potsdam sandstone, near a great break or fissure in the strata underlying the Saratoga valley, and reach the surface through a bed of blue clay. The waters are found very beneficial in affections of the liver, in some cases of chronic dyspepsia and chronic diseases of the bowels. Besides other qualities, they appear to possess the virtues of a tonic united with those of a gentle cathartic. Most of the springs are now owned by stock companies, one of which has a stock capital of $1,000,000. Great quantities of the waters are bottled and exported, and there is scarcely a town of any size in America in which they are not regularly sold. The process of boring artesian wells has been successfully introduced, and some of the most valuable of the new sources of water supply have recently been discovered in this way.

Like "Newport by the sea," Saratoga is often called "the Queen of American watering-places," and this dual sovereignty is generally acknowledged. The hotel system of Saratoga is unrivaled elsewhere in the world; and although equal to the accommodation of eighteen thousand guests, it is taxed to its utmost capacity in the month of August (the season opens early in June). Broadway is the main street, and extends for several miles, with the chief hotels near its centre and a succession of costly villas beyond. The village is at its brightest in August, when it is thronged with visitors, and thousands of private and public carriages join in the parade of fashion on Broadway and the Boulevard. During the "height of the season" the crowds to be seen in all public places,—the brilliant balls at the grand hotels, the music of excellent bands, and the many other excitements always prevailing,—make up a scene probably unequaled in the world. The town of Saratoga contains a resident population of about 9000 The drives and promenades in the vicinity are justly celebrated for their pleasant beauty. Saratoga Lake, nine miles in length and some three wide, is about four miles from the village, and is reached by the Boulevard, which passes near the race-course and trout-ponds. Lake Lovely is a sequestered pond among the hills, in the near vicinity.

The battle of Saratoga was fought here between the British, under General Burgoyne, and the Americans, under General Gates, commencing on the 7th of October, 1777, and terminating on the 16th by the surrender of the entire British force, numbering five thousand seven hundred and ninety-one men, with forty-two cannon and all their stores. The prisoners thus taken were held until the close of the war—more than five years.

SHARON SPRINGS, N. Y.

THIS favorite resort is in Schoharie county, New York. The village is delightfully located "in a valley on a hill," and is surrounded by attractive scenery, through which are lovely drives and promenades. Sulphur, magnesia, and chalybeate springs gush out within a space of a few rods of each other, and their healing virtues have been known for more than half a century—particularly for their effect in cutaneous disorders. From the village, which is nine hundred feet above the Mohawk valley, a grand and beautiful prospect opens to the north and east, embracing hills, woods, villages, and streams like silver threads, closely resembling a gorgeous piece of tapestry. Within easy distance is Tekeharawa Falls, caused by a small brook precipitating itself over a wall of rock, in a secluded hemlock ravine, a distance of one hundred and fifty feet; and, twenty miles away, by railroad, is Howe's Cave—a wonderful natural curiosity, which has been explored for seven miles.

STROUDSBURG, PA.

THIS delightful borough is the seat of justice of Monroe county, Pennsylvania, and is located in the valley of the Delaware, on Broadhead's creek, about four miles from the river and the same distance from the celebrated "Water Gap." The natural beauty of the Upper Delaware is well known throughout the United States, and it can truthfully be said that no portion of the Middle States combines in a greater degree scenic beauty, striking wonders, salubrious atmosphere, and pure water Added to these attractions are perfect facilities of access from Philadelphia and New York, bringing the region within a few hours' travel of those great cities and the many thousands of tourists who make them the initial points of their summer journeyings. Stroudsburg is a flourishing town, possessing excellent accommodations in the way of hotels and boarding-houses, and is surrounded by a highly improved country. It is within easy access of the most attractive portions of the Delaware, the Lehigh, the Lackawanna, and the Susquehanna valleys, making it, in all respects, a desirable resort for those seeking rest, health, and pleasure.

TRENTON FALLS, N. Y.

THESE remarkable curiosities are near the city of Utica, New York, on West Canada creek, a tributary of the Mohawk river, and consist of a series of cascades of unexcelled picturesqueness and beauty. The principal falls are five in number, and are named, successively, passing up the stream—Sherman Fall, High Fall, Mill-dam Fall, Alhambra Fall, and Rocky Heart. To appreciate them fully the tourist should descend the bank, by stairway, to the rocky level at the bottom, and pass up along the left bank, on an irregular line of shelf path presenting little difficulty and no danger to the careful. The rock strata of the gorge cannot fail to excite admiration, and the unique collection of fossils and crystals, found in the neighborhood and kept on view at a hotel near the Falls, is an interesting subject for examination and study. From a point called the Rural Retreat, a splendid view of the High Fall from above can be had.

TUCKERTON, N. J.

THIS venerable city is built on the Atlantic coast, near Little Egg Harbor Inlet. It is a port of entry in Burlington county, New Jersey, and has considerable coastwise trade. As long ago as 1669 Tuckerton was settled by Long-Islanders, and previous to the Revolution it possessed a large West India commerce. While the war for independence was in progress some stirring events occurred here, and Count Pulaski, with his Legion, was at one time sent by Washington to defend it against an attack of the British from New York,—a duty he performed successfully. This portion of the New Jersey coast is celebrated for the attractions it offers to sportsmen and fishermen—the many inlets penetrating it being the resort of wild fowl and the homes of some of the finest and gamest fish found in America. Boating on these land-locked waters is safe and pleasant. Tuckerton is a centre for the enjoyment of these attractions, and furnishes superior accommodations to summer tourists.

WARM SPRINGS, PA.

THESE springs are located amid the Allegheny mountains, about five miles north-east of the town of Huntingdon, with which they are connected by stages. The mountains in this region rise to an altitude of fully two thousand feet, and are broken into numerous ranges, making the general aspect of the country rugged and picturesque. Huntingdon occupies the site of an Indian town called Standing Stone, which, in the time of the aborigines, appears to have been a point of considerable importance with them, possessing some peculiar traditionary interest for the tribes comprising the Six Nations. It was also the site of a frontier fort during the colonial period.

Glen Mountain House,

WATKINS' GLEN, NEW YORK.

JOHN J. LYTLE & CO., Proprietors.

TO TOURISTS: THE VILLAGE OF WATKINS IS ON THE DIRECT ROUTE TO NIAGARA FALLS AND THE GREAT WEST,

FROM

BOSTON, NEW YORK, PHILADELPHIA, BALTIMORE, AND THE SOUTH,

And the object in stopping there is to visit that very popular resort, the famous

WATKINS' GLEN.

On your arrival, inquire for the Porters of the GLEN MOUNTAIN HOUSE, who will conduct you to the carriages belonging to the house, marked "Glen Mountain House Carriage, John J. Lytle & Co.," and take charge of your baggage. Its location is on the southern cliff of the Glen, connected with the Swiss Cottage on the north by a beautiful iron suspension bridge; commands a charming view of a portion of the Gorge near the occupies an elevation of nearly three hundred feet above and overlooking the village; is thoroughly lighted with gas; has an abundance of pure water from the mountain springs; hot and cold baths; beds of full size and hair mattresses; table unsurpassed in Western New York; and, besides the advantage of mountain air and scenery, the guests of this house, at the cost of one admission, will be furnished with a season ticket, that will enable them to visit the Glen at their pleasure during their stay.

A FINE VIEW OF SENECA LAKE,

and village of Watkins lying at the base of the mountain, and the beauties of the surrounding country, can be had from a point near the house. Rooms should be secured in advance by either letter or telegraph, to insure accommodations (telegraph office in the house). Guests will receive every attention to render their stay agreeable.

JOHN J. LYTLE & CO., Proprietors.

E. LIPPINCOTT, Manager of Glen.

WATKINS' GLEN, N. Y.

"THERE is not to be found in this country," says a writer on this recently-developed series of natural curiosities, "a more strikingly wonderful and beautiful freak of nature than the Watkins' Glen. It is situated in Schuyler county, New York, at the head of Seneca Lake, between two ranges of hills, which seem to have been torn asunder in the formation of this narrow valley. It consists, properly, of a number of glens or sections, rising one above another, and extending several miles in all, forming a series of rocky arcades, galleries, and grottoes, subterranean at times, and again widening out to vast amphitheatres, the grandeur and magnificence of which cannot be fully realized by description. It forms the channel for a limpid stream, which follows its eccentric course, making a descent of about eight hundred feet, from section to section, by a myriad of cascades and rapids, the beauty and variety of which are unequaled." In accordance with nature's own divisions Watkins' Glen has been divided by name into ten different sections, known as Glen Alpha, Glen Obscura, Glen Cathedral, Glen of the Pools, Glen Difficulty, Glen Arcadia, Glen Facility, Glen Horicon, Glen Elysium, and Glen Omega. These names are appropriate and significant, indicating the peculiarities to which they are applied. Many beauties and wonders distributed through it have also their distinctive titles, but the number is too great to be recorded here.

Grace Greenwood says:—"The Glen, with its dashing, flashing, cascading stream, reminds me of several famous gorges and waterfalls. It suggests Vaucluse in the pellucid clearness and sparkle of the water; but, instead of the dreary, blasted heights above Petrarch's 'Fountain,' we have variegated, mossy, ferny rocks, the most lush and lovely foliage, and wild flowers in profusion. It faintly suggests the sombre, magnificent pass of the Finstermünz, in the Tyrol, but is infinitely brighter and more varied. It suggests Trenton Falls, but is wider and deeper. Most of all, it suggests Bashbish, in old Berkshire—is, indeed, very like it, but is yet more picturesque and perilous. It is not properly a glen, but a prodigious succession—a full assortment and variety of glens. If one does not satisfy you, another must; though you be the most rapacious devourer of the sublime and beautiful, 'here's richness' for you.

"The Glen is one of nature's reservoirs of eternal coolness. In its shadowy recesses, beside its emerald waters, you forget even the fierce heat of July and August, hundreds of feet above you. But it is seen in its utmost beauty in October, when the wild gorge, with its wonderful variety of delicate foliage, is brimmed with the most gorgeous colors."

THE VIRGINIA SPRINGS.

THROUGHOUT the States of Virginia and West Virginia are distributed a large number of mineral springs, all more or less noted for their medicinal properties and the beauty of their surroundings. Situated, as they generally are, high up amid the Allegheny ranges, they enjoy the perfection of mountain atmosphere and an abundance of forest shade. Among these "fountains of health" may be enumerated the Augusta Springs, in Augusta county, Virginia, consisting of bath alum and chalybeate waters; Bath Alum Springs, in Bath county, Virginia; the Berkley Springs, in Morgan county, West Virginia; the Capon Springs, in Hampshire county, West Virginia; the Healing Springs, in Bath county, Virginia, whose water corresponds very nearly, in temperature, to the Schlangenbad, of Nassau, being from 80° to 84° Fahr., and are recommended as of the highest value in all ulcerous diseases; the Hot Springs in Bath county, Virginia, the temperature of which ranges at about 100° Fahr., and are similar in remedial properties to those of the Healing Springs; Jordan's Rock Alum Springs, in Frederick county, Virginia; the Montgomery White Sulphur Springs, in Montgomery county, Virginia; the Rawley Springs, in Rockingham county, Virginia, the waters of which are pronounced the best pure chalybeate in the State; the Rockbridge Alum Springs, in Rockbridge county, Virginia; the Rockbridge Baths, in Rockbridge county, Virginia; the Sweet Springs, in Monroe county, West Virginia; the Warm Springs, in Bath county, Virginia, similar in character to the Hot and Healing Springs, and of about the same temperature; the Yellow Sulphur Springs, in Montgomery county, Virginia, and the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, in Greenbrier county, West Virginia. The last-named springs are among the best known in the United States, and according to a late medical writer, very much resemble the celebrated cold sulphur waters of Neuendorf, in Electoral Hesse. They are beneficial in a wide range of diseases, embracing those of the liver, the skin, and others of a similar character. These springs are the Mecca of all Virginia tourists—the resort of the gay and fashionable—a place where pleasure-seeking reigns supreme. They are located in a beautiful valley, near the summit of the Greenbrier mountains, about two thousand feet above the sea. Within this valley, overlooked by mountain summits, is the magnificent hotel. In front the lawn spreads out, intersected by numerous winding walks. Encompassing the lawn on either side are long lines of shining white cottages, embowered beneath the shade of ancient oaks, while at the distant extremity, the famous spring bubbles beneath a pavilion. Taking one of the by-paths to the right, "Lover's Maze" is soon reached, and here, under a dense shade of forest trees, obscurely-winding paths lead in every direction amid a thick growth of laurel, while precipitous declivities sink away, from which extended views of the deep valley below may be had, with the mountain ranges in the distance. Over all these natural beauties the "season" throws its spell of animation and revelry.

These springs are in York county, Pennsylvania, about twelve miles from Gettysburg and nine from Hanover, a station on the Northern Central Railway. They are both sulphur and chalybeate in character, and were discovered as long ago as 1790, soon thereafter attaining a wide reputation, and being for many years a popular resort for citizens of Baltimore and the South. The hotel accommodations provided for visitors are good, and the country surrounding the springs attractive in its natural beauty as well as its historical associations.

PHILADELPHIA.

JOHN CRUMP, Proprietor.

CHESTNUT STREET CARS FROM PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD DEPOT PASS THE DOOR.

The COLONNADE HOTEL is not excelled in facilities for promoting the comfort of its patrons. The fashionable stores of Chestnut street and the most attractive residences of the city are near at hand. It is within one block of the new city buildings, and is convenient to all leading places of amusement. The general excellence and particular features of the table are praised by all who have made the Colonnade their Philadelphia hotel. A careful study has been made of its system of ventilation, and the result is pure air throughout.

☞RATE—$3.50 per Day; Three Upper Floors, $3.00 per Day.☜

Card to Travelers.

THE

WASHINGTON HOTEL, on Chestnut Street, a few doors above Seventh, PHILADELPHIA, is a well-established and comfortable House. The traveler for pleasure and the business man will both be pleased with the WASHINGTON—its prices, location, and general good management. The rates have been reduced to $2.50 per day, and special rates will be made with guests intending to remain in Philadelphia some days.

BOLTON'S HOTEL, HARRISBURG, Pa., is well and favorably known by the traveling public. Travelers visiting the capital of Pennsylvania, will find "Bolton's" a comfortable Hotel, which has for many years enjoyed the very best patronage. The location is on the main square, near the Susquehanna river front, and within a short distance from the Capitol building.

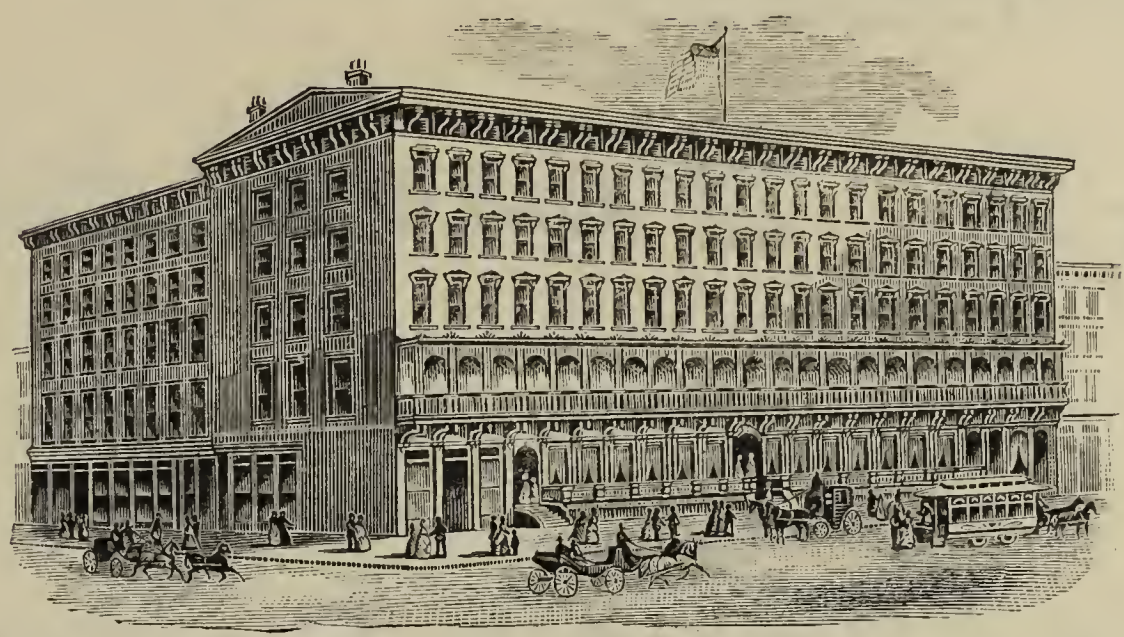
GIRARD HOUSE,



Corner Chestnut and Ninth Streets,

PHILADELPHIA.

J. M'KIBBIN, PROPRIETOR.

Prominent among the larger edifices which attract the eye of the tourist as he promenades the chief thoroughfare of Philadelphia is the GIRARD HOUSE. It is one of the most elegant hotels in a city noted for its first-class houses. The large and elegant Ladies' Parlors and Gentlemen's Sitting-Rooms are on the first or office floor. Notwithstanding the price of board has been reduced to $3.00 per day, to meet the stringency of the times, the House will be kept up to the high standard that has characterized it under its present administration.

ROYAL MAIL LINE OF THROUGH STEAMERS.

NIAGARA FALLS

— TO —

Montreal, Quebec, Riviere du Loup, White Mountains, Portland, Boston, Lake George, Saratoga, New York, and the River Saguenay.

This Line, now comprising the original Royal Mail and Richelieu Company's Lines, is composed of TWENTY First-class Steamers, and is the only Line affording passengers an opportunity of viewing the UNRIVALED SCENERY of the THOUSAND ISLANDS and the RAPIDS OF THE RIVER ST. LAWRENCE.

This route possesses peculiar advantages, as by it parties have their CHOICE OF CONVEYANCE between NIAGARA FALLS and QUEBEC, over the whole or any portion of it. Consequently, should the weather prove unfavorable, passengers may avoid LAKE ONTARIO by taking the GRAND TRUNK ROAD to KINGSTON or PRESCOTT, and from thence by one of the above Steamers, making close connections. No extra charge for Meals.

THE ONLY ROUTE TO THE WHITE MOUNTAINS BY WHICH PARTIES CAN ASCEND THE FAR-FAMED MOUNT WASHINGTON BY THE CARRIAGE ROAD.

American Money taken at par for Tickets by this Line, which can be obtained at most of the principal cities of the United States. Arrangements have also been made with the proprietors of the Principal Hotels at Toronto, Montreal, and Quebec to take American Money at par, charging New York hotel rates.

EXCURSION ROUTES

VIA

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY AND CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD.

All the excursion routes from Niagara Falls and New York issued by the Grand Trunk Railway and the Central Vermont Railroad are for sale in the offices of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Special Excursion Forms (see pages 94 to 99, inclusive) have been prepared to sell in connection with excursion routes of the above lines, making complete and continuous tickets from the point of sale.

These combination routes are among the most attractive and instructive excursions that offer to the pleasure traveler, and embrace the following scenery:—Niagara Falls, Montreal, Quebec, Thousand Islands and Rapids of St. Lawrence River, Seneca Lake, Lake Ontario, Lake Champlain, Lake George, Lake Memphremagog, Hudson River, Saguenay River, Long Island Sound, St. Alban's; Newport, Vt.; Newport R. I.; Saratoga, Portland, Boston, White and Franconia Mountains, Mount Mansfield, the entire range of the Green Mountains, the Adirondack Mountains of New York, and all the magnificent and wonderful views in the New England States and Canada.

☞The coupons between Niagara Falls and Toronto, Toronto and Kingston, Kingston and Prescott, Prescott and Montreal, and Montreal and Quebec, are valid either by boat or rail, and they are also good by the South Shore Express Line of Steamers from Charlotte or by the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co.'s Line from Toronto.

The tickets include meals on Lake Ontario and the River St. Lawrence as far as Montreal, but between Montreal and Quebec they are for passage only.

☞Passengers taking tickets via Royal Mail Line of Steamers for Montreal, Quebec, &c., via Lake Ontario, leave Niagara Falls at 10 A. M., arriving at Toronto at 2 P. M., and Montreal the following afternoon about 7 P. M., passing the Thousand Islands and the Rapids of the St. Lawrence by daylight.

☞Steamers for the Saguenay River, Ha-Ha Bay, &c., leave Quebec 7 A. M. daily, Sundays excepted.

☞Tickets via Delaware & Hudson Canal (Champlain Division) or via Lake Champlain permit the holder to stop off at Port Kent, affording tourists an opportunity to visit the Au Sable Chasm.

☞The coupons, Profile House to Concord, going south, are good via stage to Littleton, and thence by rail, or via stage to Plymouth, and thence by rail.

☞Passengers holding tickets via Central Vermont Railroad, passing through Waterbury, have the privilege of stopping off to visit Mount Mansfield.

THE THOUSAND ISLAND HOUSE,

SITUATED ON THE RIVER ST. LAWRENCE,

AT ALEXANDRIA BAY, JEFFERSON COUNTY, NEW YORK,

And in the immediate vicinity of the FAR-FAMED THOUSAND ISLANDS,

Will be opened for the reception of guests June 1st, 1877. This House was erected in 1873, and contains all the modern improvements. Rooms single or en suite, with bath-rooms and closets attached. Travelers will find this place as healthful as it is beautiful, with no mosquitoes, or chills or fever; cures hay fever, catarrh, and all pulmonary complaints; while to the finest scenery in the world are added the attractions of BOATING, FISHING, HUNTING, and BATHING, as well as BILLIARDS, BOWLING-ALLEY, CROQUET GROUNDS, &c. Cuisine second to none. Accommodations for 700 guests. Parties taking rooms for the season will find liberal deductions from regular rates. Send for pamphlet, with terms, &c.

O. G. STAPLES, Manager,

ALEXANDRIA BAY, NEW YORK.

The Thousand Island Mineral Spring, owned by the proprietor of the Thousand Island House, is proved beneficial for the following diseases:—Diseases of the Kidneys, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and especially for all diseases of the Nervous System and the blood.

The analysis was made by Prof. Chandler, of the College of Mines, New York, and the water will compare, as the analysis shows, with any of the Springs in the State.

CERTIFICATE OF ANALYSIS.

LABRATORY OF THE SCHOOL OF MINES, COLUMBIA COLLEGE, CORNER FORTY-NINTH ST. AND FOURTH AVENUE,
NEW YORK, May 4th, 1878.

SIR:—The sample of the Thousand Island Mineral Spring Water submitted to me for examination contains, in one U. S. gallon of 231 cubic inches:—

Chloride of Sodium,	26.4238 grains.	Bi-Carbonate of Magnesia,	5.9393 grains.
Chloride of Potassium,	35.8274 "	Bi-Carbonate of Iron,	1.2830 "
Sulphate of Potash,	3.5641 "	Alumina,	Trace.
Carbonate of Soda,	29.3442 "	Silica,	1.0500 "
Bi-Carbonate of Lime,	13.0229 "		116.4617 grains.

Respectfully, your obedient servant,

C. Y. CHANDLER, PH. D.,
Prof. of Analytical and Applied Chemistry.

For the WHITE MOUNTAINS!

Boston, Concord, Montreal, White Mountains,

AND

MOUNT WASHINGTON RAILROAD.

This only All-Rail Route to the Summit of MOUNT WASHINGTON takes passengers from NEW LONDON, STONINGTON, PROVIDENCE, FALL RIVER, BOSTON, and all cities and towns along the main New England Railway Lines, by through trains equipped with

ELEGANT DRAWING-ROOM CARS,

CONNECTING (going and returning) WITH THE SOUND BOATS from NEW YORK, and Philadelphia, New York, and Western Railway Lines.

The route is through the manufacturing cities and towns of the MERRIMACK VALLEY, and skirting for thirty miles the shores of

LAKE WINNIPESAUKEE.

Passengers dine, without haste, at the famed PEMIGEWASSET HOUSE, PLYMOUTH, and pass on through the

CONNECTICUT AND AMMONOOSUC VALLEYS,

Giving to observant travelers a succession of RIVER, LAKE, and MOUNTAIN VIEWS unequaled in rugged outline and startling variety.

This is the only route by which passengers by morning trains from BOSTON and the principal New England cities can reach the Summit of Mount Washington the same evening.

LOWER RATES FOR 1878.—Parties purchasing through tickets can stop at all points of interest and proceed at their pleasure; or, leaving NEW YORK by any of the various routes at evening, may reach any of the Mountain Houses, or the Summit of Mount Washington itself, early the next afternoon.

Ask for Through Tickets via BOSTON, CONCORD, MONTREAL & WHITE MOUNTAINS RAILROAD. See Maps and Circulars for full information.

THROUGH TICKETS Can be obtained at all the Pennsylvania Railroad Ticket Offices; at the Offices of the Sound Boats at Piers in New York; at the Grand Central Depot, New York; and at No. 5 State Street, Boston. BAGGAGE CHECKED THROUGH.

Pennsylvania Railroad,

HISTORICAL AND DESCRIPTIVE

"Embracing Historical, Descriptive, and Statistical Notices of Cities, Towns, Villages, Stations, Industries, and Objects of Interest on its various Lines in Pennsylvania and New Jersey."

A BOOK under this title, containing two steel-plate portaits, and one hundred and nine wood engravings executed in the highest style, is now published.

The design of this work is to faithfully portray the origin, progress, and present condition of the PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD, and to give such information of a historical, personal, and statistical character as will interest travelers over its lines.

The book contains three hundred pages, and as a specimen of book-making will compare favorably with any emanation from the American press. It is now for sale on all trains and at all the principal ticket stations on the PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD AND BRANCHES.
